Oscar Anderson is a proud third-generation Floridian who grew up among the sandhills and orange groves of Central Florida. His grandfather, a citrus grower, instilled in him an early appreciation for Florida's working lands and the importance of preserving them for future generations.

With a career spanning more than two decades, Oscar has built a reputation as a trusted advisor and advocate at the intersection of government, business, and community. He has served at the highest levels of government in both the legislative and executive branches across local, state, and federal arenas. Early in his career, Oscar was chief lobbyist for Orange County Chairman Mel Martinez, later joining Martinez in Washington, D.C. as Deputy Chief of Staff at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Returning to Florida in 2003, Oscar became Chief of Staff and Assistant Secretary at the Department of Community Affairs, where he played a pivotal role in passing the landmark Wekiva Parkway and Protection Act and spearheaded the first major overhaul of the state's growth management laws in two decades.

Since then, Oscar has represented hundreds of businesses and organizations as a partner at The Southern Group, specializing in state and local government budgets and appropriations, affordable housing, environmental protection, and land use policy. In 2021, he was instrumental in the passage of the Florida Wildlife Corridor Act, a historic conservation effort to safeguard the state's natural landscapes. Today, he remains deeply engaged in securing resources to preserve Wild Florida for the benefit of his children, grandchildren, and generations to come.

Oscar lives in Orlando with his wife, Carin, and their three children.

Tara McCue
Executive Director, East Central Florida Regional Planning Council
455 N Garland Ave
Orlando, FL 32801
(407) 245-0300 ext. 327
Tmccue@ecfrpc.org

Tara McCue, AICP, is the Executive Director at the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, a council of governments covering eight counties and 78 cities in east central Florida. As Executive Director, and under the direction of the RPC Board, Tara is responsible for the administration and operation of the programs and team of the RPC, including a growing multimillion dollar budget.

Tara began her career at the ECFRPC in 2003 and has worked for over two decades to bring together stakeholders and experts from across the region to implement projects, policies, and programs to make east central Florida a healthy, sustainable, thriving, and resilient region for future generations. Over the past 20 years, she has facilitated multiple projects and programs in the realms of community planning and policy development, resilience and sustainability, health in the built environment, and others. She has facilitated numerous partnerships and projects to advance trail development and marketing over the years including economics of trails studies across the state and in partnership with OGT, FDOT, and other RPCs, development of the Coast to Coast Implementation and Marketing Toolkit and branding in collaboration with Tampa Bay RPC and Alta Planning, and a strategic plan for the SJR2C in partnership with the Alliance and Northeast Florida Regional Council.

Tara has a Bachelor's in Marine Biology from UNC-Wilmington and a Master's in Environmental Resource Management from the Florida Institute of Technology. She serves on the Florida Regional Councils Association Executive Committee, is a member of the Honorary Board of the Florida Greenways and Trails Foundation, and serves on Stetson's Institute for Water and Environmental Resilience Board of Directors. Local Government

Andy Palmer
Parks Planning & Strategic Initiatives Manager
451 Third Street NW
Winter Haven, FL 33881
(863) 291-5656 ext.5014
Apalmer@mywinterhaven.com

Andy graduated from Catawba College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Public Administration and from Florida State University with a Master of Science degree in Recreation and Leisure Services Administration. Andy is a Certified Parks and Recreation Executive, holds a certification as a Design-Build Institute of America Professional, and is a Certified Public Manager. His career and dedication to public service began over 30 years ago as a lifeguard. Andy has worked as a GIS mapper, grants writer, city and county planner, parks planner, recreation superintendent, and currently serves as the Parks Planning & Strategic Initiatives Manager with the City of Winter Haven.
One of Andy's first jobs as a planner with Polk County, 23 years ago, was to lead the Polk Unified Greenways Systems Project. In this role, Andy helped coordinate a countywide system of trails. He has been with the City of Winter Haven for nearly 22 years. During that time, he has helped plan, lead, and implement master planning efforts; develop an interconnected trail system of over 16 miles; and advance projects including complete streets, athletic complexes, park improvements, nature parks, recreation centers, and aquatic facilities. Andy's passion for these projects goes beyond the physical improvements—he values gathering community input and working collaboratively across teams to deliver iconic, long-lasting community spaces that help shape future generations.
Andy's personal passions closely align with his work. He is an avid triathlete, cyclist, and runner, and he spends many hours on the trails and in the parks he has helped plan and build. In 2022, he and a friend completed the Coast-to-Coast System from Cocoa Beach to Pinellas County in 48 hours. Andy occasionally sneaks away from Winter Haven to Clermont for hill repeats at Sugarloaf Mountain or to Tampa to bike or run along the Courtney Campbell Trail. He is most proud to live, work, and play in Winter Haven with his wife and daughter, often planning their weekends around hikes, bike rides, and enjoying the outdoors.
